Dear DPS Community,

As part of our commitment to maintaining the highest standards in water quality, Denver Public Schools (DPS) and Denver Water are collaborating to ensure that our students and staff remain safe. DPS has been notified that certain water samples tested positive for lead.

Denver Water has been working closely with DPS to address this issue. They have conducted additional testing and are ensuring that our schools are providing lead-free water.

We are taking immediate action to protect our students and staff. DPS is currently reviewing the lead testing data and will provide an update as soon as possible. In the meantime, we would like to emphasize the importance of staying informed and taking necessary steps to ensure our water safety.

If you have any concerns or questions about this issue, please do not hesitate to contact us. We will continue to provide updates as they become available.

Thank you for your patience and understanding during this time.

EPA has been notified and is assisting in this effort. They are working closely with DPS to ensure the safety of our drinking water.

Denver Water is currently testing all of our schools to ensure the lead levels are within acceptable limits. They are also working to provide alternative water sources for those schools that have tested positive.

We want to assure our community that we are taking this issue very seriously and are working tirelessly to address it.

Thank you for your continued support and understanding.
